

Tackling the challenges of modern day resource sharing at a national scale

Te Puna Interloan
New Zealand

Te Tari Taiwhenua
Internal Affairs

Tackling the challenges

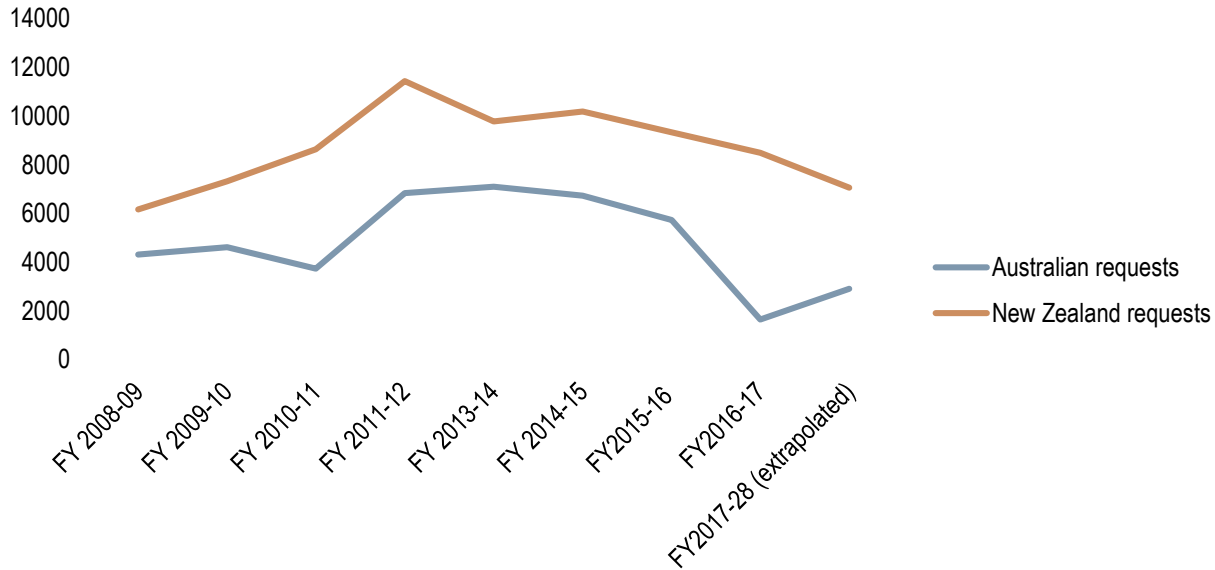

1. The New Zealand resource sharing playing field.
2. The challenges we face
3. Tackling the challenges
4. A word from the team.

The New Zealand resource sharing playing field

State of play

Trans Tasman requests

Meet the players

Library and Information Association of
New Zealand Aotearoa (LIANZA)

Te Puna members

- 90% of New Zealand libraries
- 98% of our members use Te Puna Interloan

National Library of New Zealand

- 2.3 staff

2. The challenges we face

Do more with less

Professionalism

Level playing field

Bleeding edge

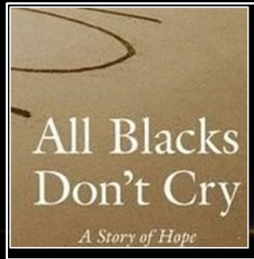

The Rugby Championship

	P	W	Pts
1 New Zealand	1	1	5
2 South Africa	1	1	4
3 Australia	1	0	0
4 Argentina	1	0	0

Digital divide

Changing population

Collection management

3. Tackling the challenges

1987

2015

2011

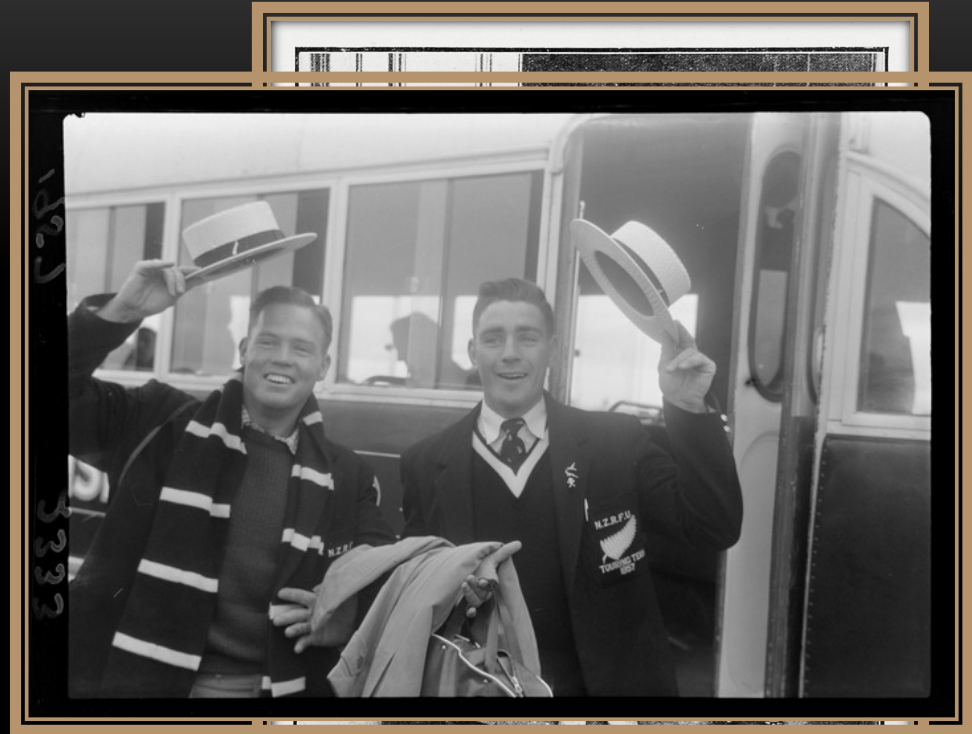

Member engagement

Member engagement

- Annual forums/workshops
- Annual satisfaction surveys
- Training
- Onsite visits
- Service desk

2017 Resource Sharing engagement

- Survey
- Forum
- National Resource Sharing Think Tank
- Workshop
- Presentations to sector groups
- Ongoing engagement with NLA

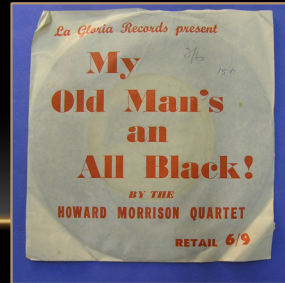

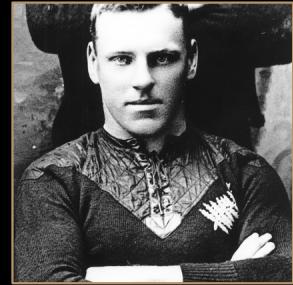

WEDDING OF SPRINGBOKS' CAPTAIN.

Phil Mostert, who captained South Africa at Rugby football against the All Blacks, was married recently to Miss H. Olivaru.

—Smith's Service, Capetown.

Vendor engagement

Te Puna Platform

One platform – WorldShare
Metadata (2016) + resource sharing (2018)

- Offer options
- International requesting
- Seamless upgrades
- Integration with:
 - vendors e.g. NLM, BL, RapidILL
 - other platforms
- Bleeding edge - payoff
- Local value preserved

4.
A word from the team

New Zealand National Resource Sharing Vision

New Zealand/Aotearoa's library collections shared nationally for the public good of New Zealanders.

A national resource sharing agreement leverages the collective investment made in New Zealand's libraries, educational, cultural and research institutions, supporting literacy and enabling equitable access to knowledge in any part of the country.

A black and white photograph of a group of about eight children, likely of Pacific descent, arranged in a circle and smiling at the camera. They are wearing matching horizontal-striped shirts. The photo is framed by a dark border.

Te Puna Annual Survey

"I think Te Puna services have greatly improved after the Replacement Project."

"I love the interloans system myself for our little library."

"Interloan - we would die without this."

From the Te Puna team:

Thank you