South Australian Red Cross Information Bureau database

Deliverables

A publicly accessible, online database of the South Australian Red Cross Information Bureau records. During WWI each state’s bureau co-ordinated enquiries from families and friends regarding the tracing of wounded and missing soldiers. The results of these enquiries are held within databases for each individual enquired upon and contain eyewitness accounts, accounts of burial, hospitalisation, letters to and from military offices and to the enquirers.

This information differs from the Red Cross enquiry files held at the Australian War Memorial (AWM) and is unique to the State Library of South Australia because the South Australian Bureau deposited its records (with more than 8000 enquiries) with the State Library in 1922 while the records of the remaining Bureau went to the AWM. The Memorial does hold some South Australian content from enquiries that were generated in other states but does not point back to the SLAS’s more complete single file. The SA Bureau held a unique distinction of being known for not losing any of the details divulged allowing the disturbing realities of trench warfare to be exposed.

The database will aggregate the information regarding South Australian casualties from World War 1 (excluding air and naval personnel), harvest data (or scrape) relevant documents from the Australian War Memorial, National Archives of Australia and Commonwealth War Graves Commission and allow for public participation and engagement by providing the ability to transcribe original documents and to leave comments, etc. where appropriate. The public will be able to bring together the details of the missing or wounded.

The database will conform to OAIS-PMI standards for database design which will enable the data contained to be exported or data mined for reuse by other agencies as required, enabling a consolidated view of Australian participation in World War 1.

Secondary benefits

- Data that is exportable fulfilling linked data, Resource Description Framework principles to enable reuse of data online.
- Public trust in providing authorised data that is reusable.
- Contribution to SA Memory directions and provides a scheduled release of content in the absence of a Content Release or Content Management Plan.
- SRG 76 Red Cross Information Bureau Series 1 will be digitised (8000 pedable containing letters, witness statements).
- The release of the database will demonstrate the Library’s contribution to the Centenary of Anzac.
- Establishes a subsection of a Content Release plan for AIS.

Informants say:-

"We were wounded on the evening of 18th November. I was badly wounded in the chest by a bullet at a place called Jeladah. The next we heard was that he had died at the 46th Stationary Hospital at 11th A.R. He was buried at the in rural cemetery about three miles from El Arish. He was very well liked, a fine honest chap. Came from Hindmarsh Island, South Australia."

THE LATE PRIVATE B. J. NASH.

Mrs. J. G. Nash, of Charles street, Norwood, has been notified of the death of her son, Private B. J. Nash, who had been reported missing since June 16, 1915. The military authorities have now established the fact that he was killed in action on May 2, 1915. He enlisted early in the war, and left South Australia with the first Expeditionary Force in October, 1914, and subsequently took part in the historic landing at Gallipoli on April 25, 1915. He was widely known in football circles, as he played in A and B grades, and also captained the B Grade Inter-State team on several occasions. He was one of the first of the Norwood senior team to enlist. Private Nash was a son of the late Mr. J. G. Nash, of Hindmarsh square, and was educated at Pulteney street school and St. Peter's College. He was 27 years of age.

Private Nash,
