

FUTURE OF THE LIBRARY AND INFORMATION SCIENCE PROFESSION: SPECIAL LIBRARIES

BACKGROUND

In 2013, we set out to investigate the big questions about our future.

- How will libraries remain relevant for users?
- What changes will institutions and individuals in the sector experience?
- Will 'library and information professional' continue to be a necessary and desirable occupation?

We received challenging, insightful, inspiring responses to our request for feedback at events held all around Australia. As a result, we have been able to identify themes and develop actions that will support positive outcomes. The findings from the project have been produced as seven reports, available as pdf downloads from the ALIA website www.alia.org.au. This is a taster for special libraries.

SPECIAL LIBRARIES

Ten themes emerged from our consultation relating specifically to special libraries, including government, law, health, corporate, engineering, science, art and others.

1. Radical transformation
We will play an active role in developing the next iteration of libraries and information services.
2. Value proposition
A powerful business case can be built from meaningful data.
3. DIY information
Instant gratification — we will compete with Google.
4. Ready to use
Clients will look to us for data that is packaged and ready to present.
5. A seat at the top table
Leveraging the importance of knowledge will secure us management team positions.
6. Centralise and embed
Bringing technical services together is offset by embedding information professionals in teams.
7. Big data
We can work with IT to source data and make it discoverable.
8. Digitisation
The future for our physical collections is online.
9. Subject specialists
Professionals from other disciplines move into information management.
10. Space
Rapid access to information will be more important than the library footprint.

GENERIC THEMES

Ten themes covered all library and information services, including school, public, university, TAFE and special libraries, and collecting institutions.

- 1. Libraries and information management
The same skills, differently interpreted.
- 2. Fair
People's love of libraries is underpinned by our contribution to a fair and just society.
- 3. Equality of opportunity
We help to overcome the gap between advantage and disadvantage.
- 4. Funding
Library users and funders have a different perception of the value of our services.
- 5. The library experience
Others provide information, but no one else provides the library experience.
- 6. Analogue and digital
We will need to look good and work well both online and in real life.
- 7. More space not less
More space for people, less space for books in our future libraries.
- 8. Stretching collection budgets
More content, in multiple formats — we will need to be smart with our money.
- 9. Community created content
Libraries will help connect readers with all kinds of new content from surprising creators.
- 10. Unimaginable technologies
Technology will continue to have a massive impact on how we work and the services we deliver.

LIBRARY AND INFORMATION PROFESSIONALS

A further ten themes looked at the professionals who work in library and information services.

- 1. Balancing the workforce
New recruits will help increase age diversity.
- 2. Higher paid jobs
Salaries will better reflect the importance of our role.
- 3. Aiming for the top
We will need to sharpen our business skills, demonstrate flexibility and help lead change.
- 4. What we call ourselves
Librarians and information professionals will co-exist.
- 5. Guardians of privacy
We see an expanded role as guardians of our users' personal privacy.
- 6. Technology for all
Every LIS professional will need to be proficient in IT.
- 7. Beyond the library
We will find new employment opportunities outside traditional library settings.
- 8. Ongoing learning
Professional development will be a necessity for anyone on a career trajectory.
- 9. Future leaders
Succession planning and support for emerging leaders will be essential.
- 10. Visibility
Remaining visible in an increasingly digital environment will be one of the challenges.
